

Everything You Need to Know About Applying to the Wawatay Program 2022.

What is the Wawatay Program?

Wawatay is a research-based program that offers Indigenous students the opportunity to obtain a Science degree while gaining experience in research throughout their degree. The program offers academic and personal supports tailored to individual students' needs. These supports include advisor meetings, access to tutors, cultural and professional development workshops, group activities and spiritual care.

What is the advantage of applying to Wawatay?

Wawatay students will be honoured with the “Wawatay Scholar” title. Research focus will be shaped by a combination of student interests, Indigenous community needs and relevant research in the Faculty of Science. Through hands-on experience, workshops and activities within laboratories, field stations and/or communities., students will have many opportunities to appreciate the real-world application of a science degree. Students who complete a Bachelor of Science degree as a Wawatay Scholar will have a strong connection to their Indigenous community, access to a network of support and future contacts, and professional skills and knowledge of how to apply that degree to a given career.

Before students start at the University of Manitoba, students will participate in a mandatory six-week Wawatay summer orientation (July 5 to August 12, 2022). Orientation is designed to help students obtain the necessary information and skills to facilitate entry into University 1 and life away from home.

Orientation Activities Include:

- Lunches and discussions with Researchers, Indigenous Scholars, Faculty members, Indigenous Elders and Knowledge Keepers
- Campus Tours to familiarize students with the University, including Faculty of Science offices, laboratories and buildings
- Engaging with staff and student organizations
- Participating in professional skill building workshops
- Group projects to promote teamwork and a cohort spirit
- Academic assessment so each student can receive tailored academic and personal supports throughout their degree.

During orientation, Wawatay students will be provided with assistance registering for their Fall term courses. Throughout the Fall/Winter semesters of University 1, students will continue to work with the Wawatay program Lead, faculty of science staff, researchers and advisors to help guide and support students to ensure a successful transition for entry into the Faculty of Science in their second year.

Who is eligible to apply to the Wawatay program:

1. Students must be of Canadian Indigenous Ancestry (Status, Non-Status, Inuit or Metis) with a high school diploma or equivalent.
2. Students must qualify for entry into University 1, which means Manitoba high school graduation including 5 full credits at the Grade 12 level in courses designated S, G, or U. You will need a minimum average of 70% over the following courses, with no less than 60% in each course:
