October Update

October was a busy month, full of conversations about our goals for our students, classrooms and school! Teachers engaged in Classroom Profile meetings, Tri-Conferences, and Professional Growth Plans.

We have been hard at work identifying our school plan goals for this year. We want all of our students at Beaverlodge to view learning as worthwhile. We want them to grow into confident learners who understand how they learn and notice and celebrate their achievements.

Our Professional Development Day on Monday will center on students' dispositions towards Math and we will learn about some tools to support our students to develop automaticity of basic math facts.

Indigo Love of Reading Grant

We have begun ordering books from Indigo through the literacy grant funds. The books selected this time are based on interests and requests of our students, selections of Indigenous resources, and from some selections related to the Forest of Reading and Blue Spruce collections. We are so excited that they are already arriving!

Fieldtrips and Special Events

Our students were able to do some off-site learning during the month of October. The grades 3-5 classes went bowling on Monday and a group of students represented Beaverlodge at the Special Olympics event yesterday.

Things to Look Forward to:

We will be hosting our Remembrance Day Assembly tomorrow. Each classroom has identified a small group of students to share what peace means to them. Thank you to Ms. Bowers and the Remembrance Day committee for their work in organizing this important event.

The Mobile Vision Clinic will also be in our building tomorrow to conduct vision testing for those that completed the forms.

Communication about the Winter concert will come home shortly.

We have just started to have some cold weather wear come in and decided to extend the Koats for Kids campaign a bit longer to see if we can collect a few more items.
